DIED IN KANSAS.

Mrs. Matilda Brookover, a Native of Brown County, O.

Sabetha, Kansas, Republican Herald.

Matilda Brookover was born in Brown county, Ohio, March 7th, 1826. She was married to Jacob Luey, who lived in Ohio, until 1853, when they moved to Henry county, Illinois. They moved to Sabetha, Kansas in 1871. Since the death of her husband in 1891, she has lived with her youngest daughter in Hiawatha. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church in 1832, and has lived a consistent Christian life since that time.

But a short time before her death she received a letter from a son in Phoenix, Arizona, whom she has not seen for years, containing expressions of filial affection which greatly comforted her in her last days, though she did not see him.

She was the mother of eight children: Mrs. N. A. Yockey, who now lives in Pickering, Missouri; Mrs. J. Bushnell, Sabetha, Kansas; C. C. Luey, Phoenix, Arizona; R. M. Luey, Williams, Missouri; Mrs. Maria Kilmer, who died two years ago; Mrs. Lucy Sweetland, Hiawatha, Kansas; W. F. Luey, Hiawatha, Kansas; J. H. Luey, Chicago.

Her health had been failing since November, but she was not considered seriously sick until about two weeks before her death, which occurred March 7th, 1896.

The funeral was held in the M. E. Church in this city last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. A. Biggart, and the remains were laid to rest in the Sabetha Cemetery.

Mrs. Brookover has many relations in Brown county, O., and in this city, among them being Mrs. Fred. Otto of Limestone street.

FULLY STATED

A Leading Democratic Paper's Inevitable Position.

FACTS THAT WILL ENDURE.

A Calm Review of the Entire Situation at the Capital.

BRADLEY'S COURSE RIGHT.

Literature Post, (Democratic)

THE SITUATION AT FRANKFORT.

The Courier-Journal reviews with entire fairness the events which led up to the situation yesterday, but it makes a serious mistake when it touches on the action of the Sergeant-at-Arms. It says:

"Literally read, the law authorizes the appointment by the Senate of only one Sergeant-at-Arms. It says nothing about deputies. It is, however, a very defective law, if, under it, the Sergeant-at-Arms cannot provide himself with the substitutes necessary to execute the commands of the Senate. The Senate at Frankfort is intended to be the agent, the executive officer, the physical arm of the legislative body which creates him. His power is a delegated power, and is equal to that which the legislative body possesses, if it chooses to delegate it to him. It would defeat the very purpose of his office if he had no more physical power than a man could exercise. The task which the Senate commanded him to do might require a dozen men or a hundred men. If that task comes within the authority of the Senate, then certainly the Senate must be able to empower its officers to perform it."

In the first place, it is not a "law" which restricts the power of the Senate. It is a plain provision of the Constitution which even a Judge of the Court of Appeals himself cannot misunderstand. If it is "defective" the defect can be removed only by an amendment to the Constitution, and is not in any degree modified by any courteous opinion Judge Hazelrigg gives to Jack Chinn.

Furthermore, this Constitutional prohibition is put in the most positive form. It provides for a clerk and other clerks to assist the clerk, but for one Sergeant-at-Arms and no more. Beyond the officers named, the Constitution says "The Senate shall not elect, appoint, employ or pay for" others.

Now, if the Senate is thus prohibited the Sergeant-at-Arms has no power to do what the Senate is forbidden to do.

It may be claimed that the Senate has "inherent" power. It may have certain inherent power on points about which the Constitution—which is the voice of the people—is silent, but in this case the Constitution deprives the Senate of power, inherent or otherwise.

Beyond this it is not necessary to go. But let us assume that the Senate had the power to appoint six deputies for Summers, the Senate would have to order the employment of this force. In such a matter the Sergeant-at-Arms cannot act of his own volition. He is always and at all times under the direction and control of the Senate. He has no delegated power until the power has been delegated. If the Senate sets him a task, it must do it definitely. No employee can act in the name of the Senate; not even Bronston; not Bronston and Goebel together could do what Summers undertakes to do even were the Constitution silent on the point.

Sommers' whole course has been one of usurpation and defiance. He ignores the Senate; ignores the Constitution, and to use the language of The Courier-Journal itself, appoints "men with reputations for violence, men who are fierce partisans of a Senatorial candidate, with the object of serving the interests of that candidate."

Moreover, Sommers undertook to make these men of violence officers of the Joint Assembly. That violence had been done, and further violence threatened, was known by all men. Dr. Walton had been forcibly attacked in the Senate chamber by a Senator and others. A Doorkeeper of the House had been set upon by Sommers' deputies. The Courier-Journal itself had said in its editorial columns:

"The legislative halls of Kentucky, supposed to be the shrine of the state's law, were in possession of mobs which set at defiance all law. Turbulence, ruffianism, madness, anarchy reigned; and that blood did not flow and death crown the orgy of passion was a miracle not to be explained by the absence of instruments of death and desperation to aid them."

Again the same newspaper said: "Not the least disgraceful feature of the whole disgraceful proceedings in the House and Senate at Frankfort Wednesday was the part which characterized Jack Chinn and Jim Williams were authorized to play by the followers of one Senatorial candidate. The brawl in which these men have been engaged have made their names by words in Kentucky."

The House had been set upon by Sommers' deputies. The Courier-Journal itself had said in its editorial columns:

"The legislative halls of Kentucky, supposed to be the shrine of the state's law, were in possession of mobs which set at defiance all law. Turbulence, ruffianism, madness, anarchy reigned; and that blood did not flow and death crown the orgy of passion was a miracle not to be explained by the absence of instruments of death and desperation to aid them."

Again the same newspaper said: "Not the least disgraceful feature of the whole disgraceful proceedings in the House and Senate at Frankfort Wednesday was the part which characterized Jack Chinn and Jim Williams were authorized to play by the followers of one Senatorial candidate. The brawl in which these men have been engaged have made their names by words in Kentucky."

As still further exhibiting the serious nature of the situation at Frankfort, we take this paragraph from The Courier-Journal of Friday:

"Some of the members of the General Assembly were very indignant yesterday because police were stationed in the Capitol to keep the peace. If the authorities had sent their duty police men to have gone on hand Wednesday, and a goodly squad of members of the Legislature, including would be leaders and their armed desperados, would have been landed in the calaboose."

The police did not do its duty; the Mayor refused to restrain the mob, and the Sheriff failed to restrain the mob. As Chief Magistrate the Governor is bound to take notice of what is going on about him. As Chief Magistrate he was appealed to by the President of the Senate, elected by the people, and by the Speaker of the House. Nor was this to be informed of a concerted movement toward the Capitol of friends of Blackburn, whose campaign is thus dilly described by The Courier-Journal:

"Blackburn's whole campaign has been one of insurrection and unscrupulous personal advancement, his means being the excitement of factional passion and disunion and his object to seize power at the expense of the party which made him, or, failing in that, to block the election of any other man. It was but natural that the reckless efforts of such a political pirate to become the lawless dictator of his party, or of the party which he abetted by followers numerous enough to hold the balance of power in the Legislature, should result in a state of wild demoralization in his own party, and of corresponding inflammation in the Republican party."

Under these circumstances any Governor worthy of the position would have acted as Governor Bradley acted. The pretense that the statute under which the Senate Committee assumes to act has any application to this case does not deceive any lawyer in the Senate. It is probably the conclusion of Hazelrigg, who, if he gets justice, will be impeached before his term expires.

The Governor is not disturbing or embarrassing the General Assembly; he is protecting it from disturbance, embarrassment and intimidation, and he doubts if Hazelrigg himself for one moment believes that by calling out the militia to protect the Legislature the Governor has subjected himself to fine and imprisonment.

C. E. PRISON WORK.

Something About the Coming State Convention.

Below will be found a communication from the State President, in regard to C. E. prison work, and the State and International Conventions.

Special attention is called to his reference to the coming State Convention. The Hopkinsville delegation to the Louisville Convention last year worked hard to bring this year's meeting to Paducah, and for that reason we should take unusual interest in the gathering. Let us lend our prayers and assistance to make this the greatest State Convention we have ever had.

Endeavor work in the Kentucky State Prisons is counting for great good. In the State Prison at Frankfort, a very large and influential society of more than two hundred members is carried on under the direction of the Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cooper. The Corresponding Secretary received as a New Year's gift, a pardon from the Governor, and his first act was to visit the Endeavorers who had interested themselves in his behalf and been instrumental in changing his life. Two large societies have also been formed in the branch State Prison at Eddyville, and the President of one and an efficient officer of the other have been lately pardoned. Truly, Endeavor will become popular among our state prisoners.

Active preparations are being made for our '96 State Convention at Paducah, May 29th, 30th and 31st. All our state is working for it and it will be a great Convention. "Washington, '96," is receiving a great deal of attention. Our transportation and entertainment manager, Dr. W. P. Banta of Louisville, with an able committee is actively engaged in working up Convention interests all over the state. Kentucky will be proud of her delegation to Washington this year.

There is more Calumet in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Calumet to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. WE'RE FOR AMERICANS!

BRADLEY!

Kentucky's Own Son for President.

THE Democratic Louisville Post says Governor BRADLEY's act in calling on the troops will be commended by all fair-minded Kentuckians. That is an expression of many a cantor in strange contrast with the barkings of the little cross-roads terriers.

We have yet to hear of the first instance where the military have interfered with people who obey the law. It is only the law-breakers and those who sympathize with them that are "out-raged" by the soldiers, whose office is to enforce peace and prevent disorder and out-peace peace.

The lawless element to the number of about 100 held a meeting at Lexington to "indignate" over Governor BRADLEY's action in calling on the troops. And here is the pedigree of some of the leading speakers who denounced the Governor:

"Colonel JACK CHINN was notorious as one of the ploudest small gamblers of Chicago. He and GEORGE HANKINS and MORRIS for many years conducted a gambling-house in the Windy City.

"EX-Mayor DAVENPORT is today being sought for thousands of dollars that the experts say he failed to pay into the City Treasury while City Collector of Lexington.

"EX-State Treasurer STEPHEN G. SHARP has just retired from the office of City Collector of Lexington and the experts say he is short in his accounts nearly $20,000."

Oh, no; there were no "threats" made by JACK CHINN and his fellow compatriots at Frankfort; and yet here is a sample of the testimony given before Messrs. BRONSTON's and GORRELL's Senate Committee which undertook to "try" Governor BRADLEY for "inspiration of power."

The witness was Colonel E. H. GATHER of the Second Regiment, himself a staunch Democrat.

"The extract is taken from the legislative proceedings at Frankfort:

"GATHER's testimony was to the effect that he saw a telegram sent to ALVIN TAYLOR at Lexington by J. MORRIS CHINN, son of JACK CHINN, saying: 'Come to Frankfort and bring fighters with you.' The Colonel also stated that PAUL THOMPSON had said: 'Colonel GATHER, if you, as Colonel of the Second Regiment, come to Frankfort to frustrate our plans, you will be killed.' When THOMPSON was called to the stand he admitted making this statement."

In the face of these warlike preparations and these threats what an "outrage" it was, to be sure, for Governor BRADLEY to call upon the troops to preserve the peace and protect the honor of the state!

NO EXTRA SESSION.

Gov. Bradley Says Emphatically That He Will Not Call the Legislature Together Again.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 19.—When Gov. Bradley was asked Wednesday night if he would call an extra session of the legislature, he said: "I have stated that I would not about 20 times. No, I will not. The democrats in the senate purposely avoided the passage of a revenue bill in order to embarrass the republican administration. The house passed the bill promptly, considerable time before the session adjourned."

"The statement that I failed to recommend in the message that action should be taken to meet the current indebtedness and provide for current expenses is untrue. The message shows for itself. There has been enough money of the state saved already on the session of the legislature and I don't think the people should be afflicted any further."

"If the interests of the state suffer a democratic senate is responsible, and, having failed once to take any steps, it would be quite useless to expect them to do any better in the future."

There is general discussion, however, of the proposition as to whether a senator could be elected at a special session and while majority of the members of both parties incline to the contrary opinion it is not an entirely settled point.

Bonds can be issued to the amount of $100,000,000. The government guarantees the principal and interest, and it is to be secured by stock.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The subcommittee of the house commerce committee, which has been engaged for several weeks in the preparation of a Nicaragua canal bill, finished its labors Wednesday and will report to the full committee on Friday next. The bill agreed upon is substantially the Nicholson bill with certain amendments. It provides for a reorganization of the Maritime Canal Co. It permits the company to issue bonds to the amount of one hundred million dollars, of which seven millions shall be held by the company to reimburse it for the money actually expended in Nicaragua for the franchise. The United States guarantees the principal and interest of the bonds, which latter shall be sold as needed to complete the waterway.

The United States is protected in its liabilities by an issue of one hundred million dollars of stock, which the company to call in and cancel all its outstanding obligations except the bonds issued to the amount of one hundred million dollars, and two million each, and which, under the new bill, they will be permitted to retain. All the bonds will be issued at three per cent per annum, the net earnings of the canal to be placed in the sinking fund for their extinguishment from time to time. Additional stock is given to the government by a first mortgage on the canal. The work will be continued under the government and the war department. The bill reserves the right to the government to purchase at its pleasure the seven millions of bonds held by that corporation. The Cause of the Explosion Will Never Be Known. The Loss Will Exceed $25,000.

The shock was felt in Kingston,
Seven Miles From the Scene.

KINGSTON, N. Y., March 19.—The Lafin & Rand powder works at Ruffin exploded shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday. The upper glazer first exploded setting off the dry-house and wrecking the coming mill engine-house and lower glazer. Five men were killed. The names of the killed are Jones, Spaulley, Peterson and two men

The cause of the explosion will never be known. The works were destroyed in a similar manner in January, 1904.
They were afterwards rebuilt. They extended for half a mile along the Wallkill creek. The loss will exceed $25,000. The works were owned by Kingston. The shock, however, was felt strongly in this city, and caused small panics in several factories
where female help is employed.

The complete list of the dead is:

Elias Peterson, aged 38 years, leaves wife.

John Jones, 30 years, leaves wife and two children.

Emery Decker, 48 years, leaves wife
and five children.

Nauman Decker, 21 years, married.

plosion.

A PLOT

To Lynch Jackson and Walling Discovered
in Newport, R. I.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 19.—A plan arranged by Greenough people to lynch Jackson and Walling was discovered in Newport late Wednesday night, and there was a harrying of messengers and a gathering of defensive forces in the neighborhood of the Newport jail.
It was found that a Greenough man, who is a cousin of Judge Brown, had made arrangements for the accommodation of 40 strangers at a Newport hotel. The hotel arrangements were effected with a good deal of secrecy, and two men who arrived
as an advance guard and occupied one of the rooms declined to give their names. The officials of Newport were satisfied last night that they had run up a plot to lynch the two men. At midnight the belief was sustained by all the investigations which had been made.

scheme was cleverly worked out, and the agents of the Spanish government

the committee and the senate of the ultimate adoption of the conference report.

TAILORS' STRIKE.

The First Outbreak of Violence at Chicago.

A General Riot Prevented.

CHICAGO, March 19.—The first outbreak of violence in connection with the tailors' strike occurred Wednesday afternoon in the sweat shop district of Halstead street. The arrival of a squad of policemen and a contingent of Capt. John Wheeler, prevented a general riot between strikers, non-union
workers and sympathizers with the strikers. A large delegation from the Garment Workers' union called at the sweatshop of Henry Knafman at 10 Halstead street shortly after noon, and tried to induce the non-union men to stop work until the strike was settled. The non-union men refused, and the strikers became belligerent,
when Kaufman raised the front window of his shop and fired half a dozen shots promiscuously into the crowd, causing wild excitement. No one was hit. The police guard at the factory sent in a riot call and the officers clustered on Monday in the vicinity of Candelaria, in the province
of Pinar del Rio. The government troops were unable to drive the insurgents back and retired from their
position with considerable loss.

The insurgents made a charge and a hand to hand engagement ensued. The engagement lasted two hours, and terminated in a defeat for the insurgents.

HAVANA, March 19.—News has been received here of an important battle which was fought on Monday in the vicinity of Candelaria, in the province
of Pinar del Rio. The government
troops were unable to drive the insurgents back and retired from their
position with considerable loss.

The Spanish forces were commanded by Gen. Linares and Col. Lucian and Hernandez, and the rebels by Maceo and Baider. The fight was begun on a line parallel with the railroad. The Spanish forces employed the Tarifa battalion, a section of the Victoria cavalry and a detachment of artillery forming the vanguard, and opening fire on the enemy. The rebels returned this fire and at the same time made an attack upon the rear guard of the Spaniards, completely encircling their column. Having entirely surrounded the government troops,
the insurgents advanced upon them
armed with machine guns. The latter made a vigorous resistance, using muskets and grenades with such effect as to check for a time the enemy's advance, but with reinforcements, a second charge was made by the insurgents and a hand to hand engagement ensued. The battle terminated with a bayonet charge.
After a hot fight lasting two hours, the Spaniards were defeated, losing many killed and wounded. It was the intention of the enemy to prevent Col. Lucian from proceeding to Candelaria.

The official report of the fight says
the insurgents suffered a tremendous loss.
The Spaniards lost two captains and four privates killed and one lieutenant, four sergeants and 54 soldiers wounded. Gen. Linares arrived at Candelaria an hour after the conclusion of the engagement, where he reported
his share in the battle.

Heliographic communication was instantly established between the two armies.

The rebels have burned all but 15
houses in San Antonio de Las Vegas.
in the province of Havana.
